Additional Information

Teaching Philosophy

My teaching philosophy is based on the commitment to doing everything I can to assist students in gaining the maximum benefits from their education. To that end, I make myself available to students at a wide range of times, including evenings and weekends and am eager to help and support them.

Advice for Current Students

Review the syllabus for your course. Get a head start on the course readings. A key to doing well is to stay ahead of the session’s reading and assignments. Do not wait until the assignment is due to get started on it.
